Mackenzie on Bergmanncelal to THE HERALD-Examiner Cable.] LONDON, July 13.-The statement which has been current that Prof. von Hergmann, the celebrated Berlin physician, has been engaged in making a series of experiments by inoculating pauper patients with cancerous matter, has naturally created a great deal of discussion here. Morrell Mackenzie when seen to-day about the matter, said: "I scarcely believe such an inhuman experiment has been made by Prof. von Bergmann. Besides, such an experiment would be absolutely valueless as it is ai ready well known that cancer is frequently experiment as Bergmann is alleged to have made were tried in England, the operator who is in New York should probably have to undergo a term of penal servitude."

Pants, July 13.—Considerable excitement to-day throughout Paris was caused by a report that President Carnot was shot. The rumor proved untrue, but there was some foundation for it. The president was present to-day at the ceremonies of the official opening of the new thoroughfare, where he received an enthusiastic welcome. Suddenly a man, wild eyed and making insane gostures, forced his way through the crowd, rushed to the carriage and fired a pistol at Carnot, the man shouting, "Fill prove there are more basilies to be demolished." The man was promptly arrested, and such was the anger of the crowd present that the officers had the greasest difficulty in protecting the prisoner from becoming the victim of popular fury. It was soon learned the prisoner was a madman, and had just been released from confinement in a lunstic asylum. some foundation for it. The president was

London Times on the Fair.

LONDON, July 13 .- The Times to-day in a long article on the World's fair reviews the growth in importance of Chicago and says it is not doubted the exhibition cided the royal commission to represent Great Britain at the World's fair will be Great Britain at the World's fair will be composed of the council of the Society of Arts, which has the prestige of having the Prince of Wales as its president and Sir Richard Webster, attorney-reneral, as its chairman. The royal commission have received a grant of $125,000, which is less in amount than any previous grant made for similar purposes. The council is confindent of having sufficient funds to insure the success of the British exhibit.

In an interview on the subject of the government's grant Sir Henry Wood, secretary of the Society of Arts and consequently secretary of the royal commission for the Worlds fair, said the grant was expected solely to cover the expenses of the commission. British merchants, he added, who were represented at the recent Paris exposition spent $750,000 in exhibiting and there was every reason to suppose considering the trade between Great Britain and the United states that British exhibitors who will be represented at Chicago in 1893 will contribute at least $1,000,000 toward the expense of the exhibit.
